Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 38 and 52 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 36 and 40 of U.S. Patent No. 6,083,233 in view of DeMeester-4, 960,422.

The claims of the patent claim (or would include due to inherency) all of the claimed elements of the application claims with the exception of the control means. DeMeester discloses an equivalent control means for a depilation device for actuating tweezer blades to pinch upon adjacent other blades to trap therebetween and pull out the hairs upon sufficient rotation of the tweezer roller. It would have been obvious to have provided the device claimed in the patent with the control means of DeMeester, as this has been shown to be an effective means by which to cause the necessary relative movement between adjacent tweezers to trap and pull out hair therewith.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 24-34,37 and 39-51 are allowed.

Art Unit: 3731

Interference

Claims 38 and 52 of this application have been copied by the applicant from U. S. Patent No. 6176862. This claim is not patentable to the applicant because it is rejectable under obvious double patenting as noted above.

An interference cannot be initiated since a prerequisite for interference under 37 CFR 1.606 is that the claim be patentable to the applicant subject to a judgment in the interference.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 38 and 52 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
